Explanation: A user can make many posts and also many reposts. Many posts can be reposted many times, but reposts can only repost one post at a time. While making the repost, you need the repost id, along with the original user that poster the original post. When the repost is made, it should display the date and time of the repost.