post
*post_id +user_id
content
time
URL
user
*user_id
email
user_name
password
DOB
user_image
An individual post could be reposted 0 or more times.
If it is reposted, its post_id and content are passed to the repost.
repost
*repost_id
+post_id
+content
+user_id
time
URL
Repost contains a repost_id as the primary key.
It inherits the post_id and content from the original post as foreign keys.
It inherits the user_id from the user who reposted as a foreign key.
It also contains its own time and URL.
A user could have 0 or more reposts.
If they have reposted something, their user_id is passed to the repost